

Dear Friends,

We are so blessed in the Wiregrass. While Hurricane Michael left a path of devastation in his wake, our area escaped the worst of it. Some have been without power for a week or more. Some lost all the food they had in freezers and refrigerators. Some even had trees to fall on their home or car. But overall, we have been blessed. We still have homes. They may need repairs, but they are there. There may be trees down in the yard, but the home is still there. We know that recovery will take time as so many do need help. Many in our area have helped begin the cleanup process. Many in our area have purchased basic necessities for those in the Wiregrass that are without. We have also helped our neighbors from the south who had to travel out of the path of the storm. In times like these, we truly see what a great and caring community we live in. We see those putting service above self. We know how strong we can be individually, but as a community, we see that we can move mountains.
